Islamic Banking, Finance & Insurance in Indian Scenario

by Dr. Shariq Nisar

on Sunday 11th December 2011

Dear Professionals,
It can be strongly vouched that Islamic Banking has a crucial role in contributing to economic development and growth at national and international level. The main issue that one has to deal with the conventional banking product and its different financing tools that majority of them are either do not conform to basic Shari'ah principles and thus prohibited or they lack the required Shari'ah compliance which make them unacceptable.

Islamic Finance has grown to emerge as one of the fastest growing financial service industry in the international field and the opportunity it offers is at an all-time high because of the resilience it showed during the recent down turn. Its success saga has aroused interest in India too and India Inc is mulling options to reap benefits of the sector.

Experts across the world concur that the sustainable growth of industries will depend on the availability of ample professional talent to meet the diverse needs of the industry, particularly in the areas of product innovation, research and development and jurisdiction.

The legal & financial professionals render legal and financial services to individuals, business and Governments. There is a derth for professionals in the Islamic Finance Industry in India and this throws open lots of opportunities for professionals who can understand, practice and review the standards on accounting, auditing, ethics, governance, regulations and shari'a for the Islamic finance industry.

2Success Infinite organizes "A Unique Workshop on Islamic Finance, Banking and Insurance in Indian Scenario" for Professionals of the Members of Statutory Bodies i.e CAs , CSs, ICWAs and Corporate Lawyers. 2Success Infinite has well thought steps to make professionals abreast of Islamic Finance and Sharia-compliant investments and to enable sharing of knowledge among them for the improvement of the industry in India.
